BONUS QUESTIONS:

- (+5 points) Who kills the Night King? No one does, he wins and everything turns to ice and dust. The world is not saved. The worst possible timeline. *OR. Hot Pie kills the Night King, because all along and unbeknownst to everyone, Hot Pie was the Prince that was Promised, Azor Ahai reborn, finally ready to take on his destiny as Champion of R'hllor and rule all Westeros, ushering in a new era of joy and warmth and happiness and bread.
- (+5 points) Who holds the Iron Throne at the end? If there is a throne left, the Night King sits on it. But he would probably destroy it instead. He still rules over the icy wastes, chair or no. Despair reigns. UNLESS this is the outlandish Hot Pie scenario. Then it's Hot Pie. It's a real fan-theory, I'm not making this up.
